Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flour is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all the towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. *

Ask Yourself these Questions.

Are you a despondent sufferer from sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart? Have you Dizziness of the Head? Is your Nervous System depressed? Does your Blood circulate badly? Have you a Cough? Low Spirits? Coming up of the food after eating? &c., &c. All of these and much more are the direct results of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER is now acknowledged by all Druggists to be a positive cure. 2,400,000 bottles were given away in the U S. through Druggists to the people as a trial. Two doses will satisfy any person of its wonderful quality in curing all forms of Indigestion. Sample bottles 10 cts. Regular size 75 cts. Sold positively by all first-class Druggists in the United States and British Columbia.

Come ye citizens and strangers,
Miners, sailors and Western rangers,
Listen to the truthful story,
Of Frank Campbell of Victoria.
He in truthful words will tell you
Just the goods he has to sell you.
Mind ye now he isn't joking,
If you are fond of chewing and smoking,
Or if you are given to snuffing,
What he keeps does not need puffing.
He has brands will suit you really,
Tobacco users prize them dearly;
From all parts of the "Old Dominion"
He has stock, and his opinion
Is that none can suit you better
They will please you to the letter.
His Cigars, just from 'Havana,'
Smoke in the most lovely manner;
Meerschaum pipes of style and fashion
Just to suit each taste and passion;
And it is in Canada stated,
His Tobaccos are celebrated;
Green Seal, Straight Cut, all go,
Big Lick, Big Cut, Wind Sap, also
All the Fine Cut Brands for chewing
That your teeth will never ruin;
Pipes to suit the inveterate smoker
Cards for playing sinch or poker,
Pipes of briar and stems of cherry
More than any man can carry;
It would take a week to tell you
All the things he has to sell you.
While in town you may be stopping
At the "Adolphi Corner" drop in;
Campbell you'll find at that location
Ready to give you information,
Or to see you well provided,
With what is by all decided,
The smoker's and the chewer's glory,
The best and cheapest in Victoria.

DR. SPINNEY & CO'S DISPENSARY,

No. 11 KEARNEY STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

DR. SPINNEY, well known as the founder of the Montreal (C. E.) Medical Institute, and late Proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY would most respectfully inform his patients and the afflicted generally, that he still continues to treat chronic and nervous diseases with unparalleled success.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Remember that procrastination is the thief of time so

COME AND BE HEALED!

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the Doctor examine your case. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case. If he can cure you he will tell you so; if not, he will tell you that, for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure.

Parties at a distance wishing treatment, by sending $25 and a minute description of their troubles will receive in return a full course of treatment securely packed so as not to excite curiosity.

DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit Five Hundred Dollars for every case of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

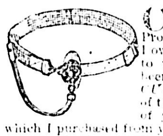
ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

EFFECTED BY

California Elastic Truss!



CALIFORNIA ELASTIC TRUSS CO., W. J. Horne Proprietor—Dear Sir: I feel that I owe it to you and to humanity to write the fact that I have been SUBSTANTIALLY CURED of a bad case of rupture of thirty years' standing, by one of your incomparable Trusses, which I purchased from you three months ago. I cannot describe the suffering, both physically and mentally, that I have undergone during that period; and now I feel like a new being. I have worn all kinds of Trusses, both Steel and Elastic, and never received any permanent relief until I tried yours. Its simplicity of construction, and facility with which it can be adjusted, and the ease and perfect freedom to the motions of the body with which it can be worn without causing any irritation, are its chief merits, and it is a perfect supporter. I have not had any sign of a return of the rupture since the first day I put it on and feel that I am PERFECTLY CURED. It is invaluable, and the fact should be known to the world. You can refer anyone to me on the subject of its merits I am truly yours, ALFRED J. BURKE,
Chief Mail Clerk S. F. Daily Evening Post.

MAINLAND ASSIZES.

The Herald comes to the rescue of its masters. It is of opinion that if the "Bill for the Better Administration of Justice" had become law the unreadiness of the Crown in the matter of the Lillooet murders would have been avoided. The Bill in question provided for the appointment of two additional Supreme Court Judges, and the residence of three out of five Judges on the Mainland. That was all. It did not propose to fill an empty head with brains, and were a baker's dozen of Judges added to the present list they could not rouse a laggard Attorney-General, who prefers the sweets of life at the Capital to "roughing it" on Circuit on the Mainland, to a sense of his duty. The Bench of British Columbia needs no reformation. It is honest, intelligent, impartial and energetic. The Bill was a superfluity. It commenced at the wrong end. To insure "The Better Administration of Justice" an Attorney-General who knows his duty and is not ashamed or afraid to do it is required. Mr. Harrison, who represents the Crown on the Mainland, is a very young man of no experience whatever, and his modesty in declining to take the cases at Lillooet is to be commended. Unless a special Assizes be proclaimed the men will be kept in gaol until the ragged edge of November; witnesses may die or leave the country, and the chances of conviction—be the prisoners ever so guilty—will be lessened. We can discern not a single redeeming feature in the whole affair. The Crown has failed to do its duty, and the ends of justice may be defeated in consequence.

A LOW MORALITY.

A few days ago a young man was arrested in Hamilton, Canada, on a charge of stealing postage stamps from an insurance company by which he was employed. After his arrest some one sent a letter to the Hamilton Times, in which the following paragraph occurred:

"The young man, Percy Appleton, who is charged with stealing postage stamps, has been working for the magnificent sum of $4 per week. Out of this liberal stipend has had to come room rent, washing, meals, and the little necessary extras to keep his end up with the boys. The struggle to make ends meet and keep up a respectable exterior and a comfortable interior has been noticed and commented upon by his more intimate friends. Is it surprising that the young man should have yielded to temptation? It would have been had he remained honest. The Insurance Company should be censured and the young man punished for not stealing more."

The London Advertiser, commenting on the remarkable sentiments contained in the letter, says: "Briefly the writer's position is just this: That an employer has no right to fix the salary of an employé, that being left solely to the the employé. If what is offered is not deemed sufficient a man is allowed to agree to work for it, reserving to himself the privilege of supplementing his salary by such pickings and stealings as may suit him. The logic of this is very bad, but the morality is a great deal worse. But there is a moral attached to the letter, which, perhaps, the writer of it did not see. That moral is that it is very poor economy to give people positions of trust on starvation salaries, and we are of opinion that the majority of employers do not do so."

THE REVENUE.

The Toronto Globe quotes from official and unofficial returns to show that the revenue from customs imports is rapidly and steadily shrinking. The official returns for March 14 to April 30 show a falling off $547,499 as compared with 1878. In May, for which month there have been as yet no official returns published, the receipts at the principal ports show that the loss went on nearly at the same rate. The receipts during that month at the nine ports at which nearly all of our revenue from Customs is received, were $155,064 less than the receipts for the corresponding month of 1878. When tabulated the returns for June, so far as now obtained, show the following startling results:—

	CUSTOMS RECEIPTS DURING
	June, 1878.	June, 1879.	Decrease.

MUNICIPAL BYLAW.

A Bylaw to prohibit the erection of Wooden Buildings within certain Fire Limits within the City of Victoria:

1. That such part of the City bounded on the North by Johnson street, on the South by Fort street, on the East by Broad street and on the West by the Water Frontage be hereby declared within the Fire Limits of the City of Victoria. The centre of Johnson to centre of Fort, from centre of Broad shall be limits referred to above.

2. All Buildings hereafter erected within the Fire Limits shall have their outside Walls and party Walls made of Brick, Stone or other incombustible material and such outside Walls shall extend four feet above Wall Plate of Roof, and party Walls shall also extend to same height above Wall Plate of Roof. Roofs shall be covered with such material as will afford protection against Fire and the Walls shall be so constructed as to separate all Wood Work thoroughly and completely of the interior and exterior of such Building from all and every part of the interior and exterior of any adjoining Building. If the apex of Roof should exceed the height of Fire Walls, then the Roof must be covered with such material as will afford protection against Fire. In the case of Gables the Walls are to be carried up to the full height of the Apex of said Roof. The term Building, as applied in this Section, shall not include Privies or Sheds for storage of Coal, Wood or Wharf Sheds.

3. All Repairs to Buildings constructed of brick, stone, or other incombustible materials, shall be made to conform to this Ordinance.

4. The Wooden Building within the said Fire Limits shall not be altered or changed without the written permission of the Chief Engineer of the Victoria Fire Department, approved by a majority of the Fire Wardens, which permit shall specify fully the alterations or changes required, and no such permit shall be given if any increase will be made by the proposed change or alteration in the size of any Wooden Building within the said Limits, or if such repairs or alterations will increase the value of such building more than Twenty-five per cent. The applications therefor and a copy of each of such permits shall be kept on file in the office of the City Clerk.

5. No Building within the said Fire Limits shall be removed except to a portion of the same lot on which it stands or to a point outside the Fire Limits.

6. Whenever any building shall be by any means so much injured as to be, in the judgment of the Chief Engineer and a majority of the Fire Wardens, a dangerous nuisance, or when any Wooden Building within the said Fire Limits shall, in the judgment of the Chief Engineer and a majority of the Fire Wardens, be damaged by fire to the extent of one-half or more of its actual value, the Chief Engineer shall cause to be served upon the owner or person having control thereof a notice requiring such person to remove the same forthwith, and the person receiving such notice shall within ten days after receiving the same comply with the requirements thereof.

7. One Story Buildings—Foundations to be not less than eighteen inches in thickness and not less than eighteen inches in the hard clay or gravel, as the case may be, brick walls to be not less than twelve inches thick. Two Story Buildings—Foundations to be not less than twenty-two inches thick and not less than eighteen inches in the hard clay or gravel, as the case may be. Brick Walls—Ground floor to be not less than seventeen inches thick; first floor not less than twelve inches thick.

8. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this Bylaw shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof before the Police Court shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten or more than one hundred dollars, and each day of maintaining or continuing such violation shall be deemed a new offence and punished accordingly.

9. The Chief Engineer of the Victoria Fire Department and the Fire Wardens are required to see that the provisions of this Bylaw are enforced and to make complaints in the Police Court for violation thereof.

10. This Bylaw may be cited for all purposes as "The Bylaw for Prohibiting the Erection of Wooden Buildings, 1879."

Passed the Municipal Council this Sixteenth day of July, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-nine.

HOT TIMES IN PORT AU PRINCE.

A Battle in the Legislative Hall.

SANGUINARY SCENES--THE TOWN ON FIRE AND MITRAILLEUSES SWEEPING THE STREETS.

[Exclusive Dispatch to the Colonist.]

NEW YORK, July 18.—The Newsletter, published at Kingston, Jamaica, in its issue of July 3rd says: We learn by the steamer Jamacian, which arrived here yesterday from Port au Prince, that in consequence of a dispute in the House of Representatives the brother of the President was shot by another member who took offence at language which had been used. Mons. Canal, though wounded in the arm, returned the fire and shot his opponent. There was then general firing in the House and the populace and police outside fired into the building. The President of the Senate and others were shot down. When the Jamacian left for this port the Government troops were raking the streets with mitrailleuses. The same paper in its issue of July 8th says: By the arrival of the steamer Etna from Port au Prince on Sunday we learn that a serious fire originated from the discharge of shells in the town. Several blocks of buildings were burned, a number of lives lost and many persons wounded. The inhabitants are taking refuge in the hills. Widespread revolution was considered imminent. Several deputies of the Chamber belonging to the Liberal party who arrived on the steamer from Gownaives, finding revolution in the town of Port au Prince, returned at once to Gownaives by the German steamer Saxonia to take up arms against the National party. When the Etna left Port au Prince the Court House was closed, all business suspended and the place was still burning.

The dispatch generally confirms the report that Fort Durnford will be the base of supplies, that Cetewayo is north of Ulundi with 1000 men and that messengers from Cetewayo had come to Fort Pearson and were sent back by Gen. Wolseley. Gen. Wolseley's dispatch continues: According to the best information King Cetewayo can only muster 10,000 men. We have promised that all Zulus joining us well be well treated. Many have already come in.

The Caledonian Picnic.

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society held their sixteenth annual gathering at their beautiful grounds on Cook street yesterday. The picnic was originally announced to take place on July 4th, but the inclement weather necessitated postponemdnt from date to date until some little anxiety was felt as to whether the Society would ever be fortunate enough to select a fine day for the event. The glorious weather of yesterday, however, entirely dissipated all fears on that score, and as soon as the gates of the grounds were thrown open the pleasure-seeking portion of the community commenced to repair to the scene of the celebration. At 3 p.m. a goodly number of visitors having assembled the athletic sports, which were held in an enclosure in the centre of the grounds, were proceeded with. They proved the main feature of the attraction during the afternoon, being attentively watched by nearly everyone present. Several of the events were closely contested and created considerable excitement. Mr. Murray, of Langley, won the running high jump, beating several athletes who have carried off the prizes for this event on former years. Mr. S. Wootton came in first with comparative ease in the 200 yards race and accomplished a similar feat in the half-mile race, somewhat to the surprise of those who were not acquainted with the fact that he possesses both speed and staying power. The latter race comprised nine laps of the enclosure and Wootton, who had been running a waiting race, put in a splendid spurt as he made the 8th lap, eventually winning the race in excellent form. Mr. James Chrystal Smith made a very good effort to defeat Mr. R. McKenzie in the heavy shot contest, but had to content himself with second place as Mr. McKenzie beat him by 7 inches. The sack race, as usual, gave rise to much merriment. The several competitors were distinguished by colored labels, on some of which the following words were painted: "Cofferdam," "Railway," "Wet Weather," "Twenty-five per cent. extra," "Dredger." In the middle of the race "Cofferdam" fell and, "Railway" being outpaced, "Twenty-five per cent." came in first and "Wet Weather" second." The games having been concluded the company proceeded to the spacious platform where, amid frequent applause, the Highland Fling, Gillie Callum, Strathspeys and Sailor's Hornpipe were danced to the strains of Piper Fraser's bagpipes. A grand lottery, the prizes in which were exclusively for ladies, was subsequently drawn, the affair naturally creating much expectancy amongst the fair ticket-holders. Between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening the number of visitors rapidly increased and for several hours the platform was very numerously patronized by those who love "to trip the light fantastic." The grounds, which were decorated by Mr. Gorrie with a great variety of bunting and the beautiful banners belonging to the Society, were brilliantly illuminated after sunset, the spectacle thus afforded being most pleasing. At about 11 o'clock the company dispersed, every one speaking of the gathering as a highly enjoyable event. The music for the occasion was furnished by Professor Haynes' band, the refreshments by Mr. A. Bechtel and the beverages by Messrs. Warner & Harding. The President of the Society, J. J. Russell, Esq., presided at the reception tent and was fully occupied during the afternoon entertaining the guests introduced by the committee. Appended will be found the

THE COFFERDAM.—A letter will appear in to-morrow's Standard, signed by a number of our leading business men, endorsing the action of the Government in undertaking the completion of the cofferdam, instead of letting it by contract.—Standard Friday.

The public await the appearance of the promised letter. Our contemporary probably forgot to publish it yesterday. The public want to know the "number of our leading business men" who endorse "the action of the Government in violating the law and overriding the authority of the House. Trot out the names, Mr. Standard, we want to analyze them. We feel sure that no business man who has not an interest in the cofferdam would sign any such document.

SNOWFLAKES' ENTERTAINMENT.—We understand that Archdeacon Wright has asked the generous Penguin company to give the proceeds of their entertainment for the benefit of the fever ward lately built at the Royal Hospital, or for the fund about to raised to establish a Home for Incurables in this city or for some other charitable purpose. We feel sure that for either of the above objects the house would be crowded.

LILLOOET.—A letter from Lillooet states the prisoners confined on the charge of murdering the Poole family were put to heavy expense in procuring counsel from New Westminster, and that when he arrived at Clinton they learned to their great surprise that the Crown was not prepared to go to trial. The prisoners have been sent to New Westminster and will probably be tried there on the return of Judge Gray from the interior.

Cowichan River.

EDITOR COLONIST.—I observe in the Standard of yesterday an item stating that the residents on Cowichan river had memorialized the Dominion Government upon the subject of the contract for clearing that river, which memorial contains statements glaringly at variance with the truth. Ex: gr. That three months have expired since the date fixed for the completion of the contract, and nothing whatever has been done by the Resident Engineer to enforce the terms of contract or examine into the loss sustained by different individuals.

The truth is this: On 29th May last I addressed a letter to the contractor and to his bondsmen, stating that the Government had extended the time for the completion of the contract, and calling upon the former to proceed with the work, and to use "all due diligence" to see that the first freshets in the autumn carry away the logs cut during the summer. I have had a long correspondence with those settlers who feel that they have suffered from the alleged neglect of the contracts, pointing out that they must look to him and not to the Government to make good any damage which may have been occasioned by his alleged neglect.

I also quoted in my letter to Mr. Munro, who appears to have been the greatest sufferer, but who declined to sign the memorial, the following clauses taken from the contract and specification.

"And the said Joseph Nicholson hereby further agrees that he will exercise all due care and diligence to prevent any damage being done to the bridges, weirs and all other property situate upon the banks of the river, by the floating down of all logs of timber, roots and other obstruction."

Also, from the specification: "The contractor will be required to exercise all due diligence and care not to destroy the bridges, weirs, &c., belonging respectively to the Provincial Government and the natives."

It will thus be apparent that I took more than ordinary precautions to protect all rights, and my contention with the settlers is simply that they must look to the contractor and the law courts for damages sustained, and not to the Government.

Had I neglected this precaution they might have argued plausibly, if not logically, that the Government were bound, in consequence of such neglect, to make good any damages sustained in the carrying out of the work.

I remain, etc.,
B. W. PEARSE,
Resident Engineer.

Public Works Depart., Victoria, July 19.

THE LATE PRINCE IMPERIAL.

Foreign Opinion.

"In presence of so tragic an end," says the Journal des Debats, "we only remember one thing—that Prince Louis Napoleon was a Frenchman and that he died a soldier's death. So we bend respectfully before this death as we should do before that of every child of France who has been struck down while fighting for a friendly nation. We cannot refrain from the thought that the land of Africa is fatal to those who bear the name of Napoleon. The First Napoleon died at St. Helena in the custody of an English gaoler, and now this one perishes at the age of twenty-three, in the service of England pierced by the assegai of a Zulu. The Temes says:—The hopes of the most declared and resolute enemies of the Republic were concentrated in the Prince, who was the last incarnation of the Imperial legend. The Bonapartists were at the bottom much divided. Some of them were Clericals, others Democrats, but the Empire held them together, and now they will disperse. The disappearance of the Bonapartist party in the country has at its necessary consequence, the allaying of excitement. The nation having no more to fear that it may be arrested on its road by adventurous attempts, can avoid all impatience and anger, and it is thus that the death of the heir of Napoleon III. becomes a national event.

"In the presence of death," says the Moniteur, "universal political divisions should be silent. As for ourselves, we do not hesitate to bow respectfully before the coffin of him who was the Prince Imperial. Nor do we hesitate to incline before the mourning of the woman thrice sanctified by misfortune who has borne the title of Empress of the French. There is not a mother in France—and we may add there is not a man of heart—whom her sorrow does not strike and her grief does not touch.

Momentoes of a Great Disaster.

A correspondent at Isandula writes: "Wandering about the desolate camp, amid the sour odour of stale death, was sickening. I chanced on many sad relics—letters from home, photographs, journals, blood-stained books, packs of cards, Lord Chelmsford's copying book, containing an impression of his correspondence with the Horse Guards, was found in one of his portmanteaus and identified in a kraal two miles off. Col. Harness was busily engaged collecting his own belongings. Col. Glyn found a letter from himself to Lieut. Melville, dated the day before the fight. The ground was strewn with brushes, toilet bags, pickle bottles, and unbroken tins of preserved meats and milk. Forges and bellows remained standing ready for the recommencement of work. The waggons in every case had been emptied and the contents rifled. Bran lay spilt in heaps. Scarcely any arms were found and no ammunition. There were a few stray bayonets and assegais, rusted with blood. No fire-arms. I shall offer a few comments on the Isandula position. Had the world been searched for a position offering the easiest facilities for being surprised none could have been well found to surpass it. The position seems to offer a premium on disaster, and asks to be attacked. In the rear laagered waggons would have discounted its defects; but the camp was more defenceless than an English village. Systematic scouting could alone have justified such a position, and this too clearly could not have been carried out. I much wish we had remained on the ground long enough to remove every evidence of the combat, bring back or destroy all the waggons, and construct a redoubt in the neighbourhood to be held permanently by a strong detachment of infantry. The moral effect of this would, I think, have been great, and I should have been pleased had a cavalry brigade carried out a more extended operation and at least have chevied the Zulu out of the Umquoto Mountain, but Marshall was under engagement with Newdigate to risk little and to join him early in anticipation of a speedy advance.

FAITHFUL ENGINEER PRITCHARD.

He Saved the Sleeping Passengers and Died at the Post of Duty.

The heroic part taken by the engineer, B. F. Pritchard, in the accident on the Pittsburg division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, between Confluence and Cumberland, recently, deserves to be immortalized. He saw just ahead a large piece of rock that had rolled down the mountain on to the track. Quick as thought he sprang from his seat, without relaxing his hold on the throttle, jammed it shut and put on the air brakes. The next instant the engine went grinding and crashing over the rock, was thrown from the track and turned over and over. When the train men and passengers reached the battered wreck which a few moments before had been a splendid piece of machinery, the form of the brave engineer was found standing erect, as if his engine was running smoothly over the rails. One hand was holding the throttle and the other the handle of the air brake valve, with a clutch that could not be loosed. His lips were pressed closely together and his face wore a determined but anxious look, and penetrating his side was the polished iron handle of the reverse bar. The engine, in turning over, had pressed him against the bar, and he had died at his post of duty. That the engineer's action was successful in putting on the air brakes is known, for it saved the train from wreck, and its sleeping human freight from death. Whether he succeeded in throwing back the reverse bar is not known, for though it was not reversed when the crash was over it might have been before. It is probable that he saw all that he could do between the brief moment of the discovery and the collision was to close the throttle and hold the air valve open long enough to insure the patent brake a full supply of condensed air.—Cumberland (Md.) News.

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE.

How She Received the News of Her Son's Death.

[London Daily Telegraph, June 21.]

Camden House, Chiselhurst, always somewhat gloomy and doleful in appearance, had early yesterday afternoon resumed the more mournful appearance which it had worn nearly seven years ago when the Emperor Napoleon died. Now, as then, the blinds were closely drawn; police slowly pacing backward and forward in front of the entrance repelled the curiosity of strangers. carriages filled with friends arrived at the gates, and ladies and gentlemen attired in black, first of all signing their names in a book at the lodge, passed up the dark avenue of trees to offer their sympathy to the inmates of the house beyond. At length it came to my turn to enter, and passing through the curious panel door which opens into the reception room of Camden place, I found the Duc de Bassano waiting to receive me. As he read the telegraphic despatch, which told of the Prince's death and the finding of the body, he nearly gave way to the intensity of his feelings, protesting the while that he had had no part in the voyage which had terminated so fatally, and that, indeed, it had been undertaken against the advice and wish of all the Prince's friends. "But he was so ardent, so courageous, and such a capital horseman," His Grace continued, taking apparent pride in this last accomplishment of his youthful chief, he was so anxious to be with his comrades of Woolwich, and to share their dangers, that nothing would persuade him to give up the enterprise. The Empress," the Duc remarked, "learned the news, in fact, by an accident last night. Some friend of M. Pietri, hearing of the disaster which had befallen the Prince, wrote him a letter, which he sent by rail, warning him to prepare for sad, and, indeed, painful intelligence. Somehow or other the Empress opened this letter, and although unable exactly to comprehend its import, feared unhappy tidings. She knew her son had been ill, and she naturally dreaded to hear that he was worse. However, no more intelligence came till this morning, when Lord Sydney, who had received a message from Lady Frere, and also the command of the Queen, came round to communicate the terrible news to the Empress, together with the expression of Her Majesty's sympathy. I received him, and upon me the duty devolved of breaking the fearful news. I asked permission to see the Empress, who, noticing probably from the expression of my countenance that I was greatly troubled, begged to know at once all I had to tell her. I said 'Madame, the Prince is very ill, more dangerously ill then he was when we last heard.' Immediately Her Majesty exclaimed, 'I will go to him; I must go,' to which I replied nothing, and retired. A quarter of an hour elapsed and then I returned to her. I told her that further news had come, which made the aspect of affairs still graver. She cried out, 'I will go at once; where is he?' To which I replied, 'It is too late, Madame,' on hearing which Her Majesty burst into a flood of tears, exclaiming, 'Mon fils, mon pauvre fils,' and I left her,"

I quitted the hall and went across the common forthwith to the place where the remains of Napoleon III. lay. There, as in the old days, the Rev. Father Goddard still rules, the faithful and trusted counsellor of the Imperial House. He had been, as was to be expected of one under whose religious care the Prince had been brought up, terribly shocked by the sad news, yet to him there came also some comfort in the remembrance of the fact that, no matter how busily occupied, the Prince never forgot the obligations of the Church. "I remember," says the good Abbe, "that just as His Imperial Highness was going away to Zululand I wrote to him reminding him of the duties which the Church imposed at that season of the year, and begging him to remember these, even though he might be otherwise busily engaged. His letter to me was one I shall never forget. He expressed some surprise at my having thought that he could by any possibility be unmindful of the calls of the Church, and next morning—on the day of his departure—he came round to me, confessed, took the Holy Sacrament very shortly after seven o'clock, and kissing his father's tomb, departed. I think that the chain round his neck bore a scapel and a piece of wood of a True Cross. There was a locket attached to it, too, but for the rest I cannot speak with certainty. All I know is that he left with every impression of religious and happy confidence. He did not once think of the danger which might come to him. His whole mind was set upon going. Some endeavored to dissuade him from the enterprise; but he insisted upon carrying it out, and I do not think that even the command of his nearest friends to stay at home would have weighed with him. Several times after he went away he wrote home the most charming letters, all full of hopefulness. And it is strange that only this very morning a letter was received from an officer named Bigg, a friend of the Prince, saying how splendidly he behaved, how glad they all were to have him there, and how careful they should be that no harm should come to him." Speaking of the Empress, Father Goddard remarked that on learning the news from the morning papers he went to Camden Place, and there found that the empress had been already informed of her terrible loss. "She has almost lost her senses," said the reverend gentleman—a statement which was otherwise unhappily born out.
